SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

SAN PEDRO ROAD ALMOST A WRECK

Salt Lake City, Jan. 16.—Never in the history of transportation in the United States has a great railroad been stricken so sorely as was the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake by the mid-winter thaw. In a twinkling the desert-born torrents lapped up a hundred miles of rails and embankments, severed the steel band between mountains and sea and made of a busy avenue of commerce two disorganized branches whose ends are lost in the wilderness.

Millions of dollars of investment temporarily profitless and hundreds of capable railroad men without employment are two results of the disaster. As its extent is better understood the day when earnings will be restored and the men recalled, seems more and more remote. Said J. Ross Clark, the second vice-president, before starting to Los Angeles over the Southern Pacific today:

"The weather conditions since the washout in the Meadow Valley wash have been such that a thorough examination of the present line has not been possible but as soon as the weather will permit, the matter will be gone over carefully by competent engineers to determine the exact extent of the damage done and the feasibility of reconstructing the line through the canyon of the Meadow Valley wash in its former position or elsewhere.

"In the meantime reconnoissances are being made on two other routes with a view to ascertaining if a satisfactory alternative is available. If it is not found feasible to rebuild the line through the Meadow Valley wash on an absolutely safe basis, then it is possible that one of the other lines being considered will be adopted and the road constructed on such route."

More than 250 salaried employees have been laid off in Utah alone since the disaster. The better informed among these men take a gloomy view of the situation. The restoration of the through line, they believe, is a matter of years rather than months.

BOARD OF PARDONS' MONTHLY MEETING

At the state prison Saturday morning was held the monthly meeting of the state board of pardons and clemency. Cases came before the board for consideration and, apparently, the board was in no merciful mood, for only one pardon and one parole were granted. The other applications for clemency were denied.

Lionel Flowers, convicted of a statutory crime in the Third district court of Salt Lake county and sentenced May 15, 1909, to nine months in the state penitentiary, got the pardon. His pardon was granted to take effect the same day that his term expired. This action was taken by the board merely for the purpose of restoring Flowers' citizenship rights.

Albert Reading, convicted of petit larceny in the justice's court of Midvale and sentenced to six months in the county jail, was granted a pardon, but a parole was granted him.

The application for pardon of Geo. Shepard, convicted of burglary in the second degree in the First district court of Cache county and sentenced January 21, 1909, to eighteen months in the state prison, was denied. The following applicants for parole were refused clemency by the board:

Benjamin Carter, convicted in the Seventh district court of Plute county and sentenced July 8, 1908, to ten years' imprisonment.

Alex. Wanlass, convicted in the criminal division of the city court of Salt Lake City of obtaining money under false pretenses and sentenced October 15, 1909, to six months in the county jail.

Hyrum Wiseman, convicted of a statutory offense in the Second district court of Day county and sentenced January 27, 1909, to three years in the state prison.

William Reese and Harvey Bass, serving time for burglary.

CONTROL OF TECOMA MINE

Control of the old Tecoma Mines company, which owns a valuable mine in Tecoma district, on the Southern Pacific railroad, near the Utah-Nevada state line, has been taken over by Salt Lake and Idaho men, who are confident that the district has a great future. The mine has worked the last 30 years, and has produced, it is said, close to $1,000,000. The new owners expect to make it even more productive in the future.

Control of the property was held by A. A. Moulle of Tecoma, and the law firm of Stephens & Smith of Salt Lake. Frank B. Stephens remains with the company, and is one of its directors. The deal was made by the Thomas G. Clark brokerage house, upon recommendation of W. H. Hartman, a Leadville mining engineer, who will become the company's mine manager.

Those who have just acquired control of the Tecoma company are the controlling interests in Iron Me.,

Mineral Mountain and Little Butte companies, operating in the same district. They include John S. Booker, J. H. Merrill, Leon Messen and John Dean of Blackfoot, Idaho, Lamar Nelson of Ogden, and Thomas C. Legg of Salt Lake. With their new acquisition, these people control virtually all of the mineral ground adjacent to the property of the Salt Lake Copper company, which is controlled by the Lewishons of New York.

CLOSING DOWN THE BLACK HOLE MINE

Salt Lake, Jan. 16.—The famous Black Hole mine of the Chafey Mines company has been closed down with the miners threatening to attack the company's property for back pay, according to a correspondent of the Nevada Silver State. Large holders of the property in Salt Lake had not been advised yesterday of the shutdown. E. S. Chafey, the company's manager, is in San Francisco, it is understood, and it is not unlikely that his mission there is to negotiate new financing arrangements.

The Black Hole mine came into prominence as one of Nevada's bonanzas nearly three years ago, when Chafey discovered in the ground a surface deposit of rich gold ore, from which he made something like $200,000 production within a few months. The camp has a short-lived boom upon the strength of that record. After the big bunch of high-grade ore had been worked out the ore in place became of relatively low grade, and milling facilities had to be provided. Mr. Chafey remodeled an old mill in the camp and the mine has since been making a fairly good production, but it is likely that the saving has been low and the expense of operating high.

Attempt was made about a year ago by a group of Salt Lake men, associated with Mr. Chafey, to finance the property for systematic development and for providing a modern mill of larger capacity. While reports upon the mine were favorable, the time appeared to be unpropitious for the undertaking, for no material progress was made. The mine was operated upon the "hand to mouth" system, and with the working out of one shoot it is likely that not enough funds had been conserved to develop another.

Conservative mining men are confident that in the Black Hole ground is the making of a big gold mine—a handsome milling proposition—and it is altogether probable that some sort of arrangement for resuming operations will be made.

WOODS CROSS MAN SAYS HE WAS ROBBED

Salt Lake City, Jan. 16.—M. O. Parrish of Woods Cross reported to the public Saturday evening that he had his pockets picked of a pocketbook containing a $10 bill and 15 cents while he had been standing in a crowd in the hotel to an auction in a store on East Second South street, between Main and State streets. As soon as he discovered his loss he called the attention of Patrolman Eddy to two men near whom he had been standing, and Eddy took the men to the police station.

Lieutenant Shannon took the men aside individually and put them through a thorough examination regarding their deportment while they had been listening to the auctioneer. Each man, when examined, told a straightforward story and gave prominent persons as references, who when communicated with gave the men good reputations. They were discharged from custody, and Chief of Detectives George Sheets detailed a number of plain clothes men to look into the case, with a view of arresting the pickpockets, who are believed by the police to be strangers in the city and who have lately begun their operations.

TAKING THE CENSUS OF THE POPULATION

Real Work of Preparing for the Task Is Now Under Way.

Salt Lake, Jan. 17.—In a day or two the real preparatory work for the taking of the thirteenth census will be in full swing. Hugh J. McMillan, census supervisor, has returned from Denver, and was his desk Friday. Mr. McMillan went to Denver to meet the assistant of the census, W. A. Willoughby, and Statisticians Hunt and Powers, who were sent west by the director at Washington, D. C., to meet with the western supervisors. Besides Utah, the other states whose supervisors were present were South Dakota, western Montana, Idaho, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona. The officials were in conference last Tuesday and Wednesday, the meetings being held in the office of Mr. McCaffrey, the supervisor for Colorado.

The purpose of the conference was that the officials could go into minute details in person instead of taking them up by correspondence. One matter that was given prominence was the fact of it being so essential that applicants for positions as enumerators state in the printed form the voting district in which they reside, as the enumerating districts and the voting precincts are the same. Another matter, the importance of which was impressed upon the supervisors, was the obtaining of data regarding crops and range cattle and sheep, and the proper persons to obtain this information.

The supervisors were strictly enjoined to impart no information to the public. Any one who violates this rule will be dealt with vigorously. All information given to any official will be considered strictly confidential. The number of dwellings will also appear on the census list, so that it will show where the population is housed. In addition to this a man who, for instance, has a residence in the city and a farm in the county will be given a number on the list, so that he can be identified and thus prevent duplication.

The maximum remuneration is $6 per diem, but what it will be in Utah has not been determined. The government has made no allowance for transportation, and in the western states where long distances have to be traveled this will work a hardship. Mr. McMillan gave an illustration of this to the officials at Denver. A man going from Bluff to the Natural Bridges, in San Juan county, would have to take a pack horse and a camping outfit. It would probably take him three days to make the journey before he would reach the point where his work really began; so that this was entirely different from the man working in the city or the populous districts. Other supervisors presented similar illustrations. Assistant Director Willoughby instructed the supervisors that in such cases as those presented they should write to Washington an outline of the bare facts and every consideration would be given them.

The application blanks have arrived and will be distributed among the applicants at once.

DEALS MADE AT BANNOCK.

Bannock, Nevada, Jan. 9.—Ray Ohmart, the discoverer of the placer deposit a mile west of the townsite, has sold his half interest for $500. This by no means represents the value of the property, but Ohmart's financial condition was such that he found himself unable to keep up his end of the development work, and besides this it will be a couple of months probably before any placer can be done on account of the deep snow and severely cold weather. With an old style rocker 300 pounds of the dirt, just as it came, produced $426. From one hole, particularly, a pound and a quarter of dirt produced 43 cents, and at this rate the ground should produce $900 to the cubic yard, or $600 gold per ton. The purchaser of the Ohmart interest is Alex Walker, who located the Limestone from which the very rich high-grade gold ore has been taken by the Nevada-Omahara Co. There is a report being circulated that the deal was made at Bannock to the effect that Michael Scully, a Goldfield operator, had put together a deal with Ontario, Canada, and Chicago people, by which these parties secure 51 per cent of the stock of the company, owning the Tipton and Independence mines at Hilton, twenty miles east of here. The transfer called for the payment of $102,000. The report also has it that a ten-stamp mill had been purchased. Mr. Scully was in Battle Mountain this week, but would vouchsafe no information on the subject, yet he is said to have been inquiring into the cost of freighting the machinery to the mines. There is a dike on the Hill-top mine about sixty feet wide from which in an open cut fifteen feet high and twenty-five feet long, about $15,000 in high-grade ore was taken. In several places across this dike high-grade spots are now visible on the croppings. There is no work of consequence showing depth on the property. The Independence is an adjoining claim equally as rich.

STOCK OF LIQUORS SEIZED BY POLICE

W. T. Hopkins Said to be Doing Business Without License.

Salt Lake, Jan. 17.—J. G. Mazzuchelli, a clerk employed by W. T. Hopkins, proprietor of a confectionery store at 26 West Third South street, was arrested Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock and taken to the station by Patrolman Patterson and Egbert, who charged him with selling liquor without a license.

The police have been watching the store for some time with a view of gathering evidence against the proprietor, who is said to have been warned that his place was under surveillance. Hopkins paid no attention to the warnings.

When the police entered the store Sunday afternoon they found the clerk, Mazzuchelli, selling beer and liquor to a number of persons. The clerk was told that he was under arrest for a violation of the Sunday liquor ordinance and he was then asked to produce his license. When he failed to show either a government license or a license from the city for the sale of liquor he was taken to the station. All of the wine, liquor and beer in the store was confiscated and taken to the station, where it is being held as evidence.

BAD MEN TRAPPED BY POLICE OFFICERS

At Same Time, Stolen Silverware to Value of $1,000 is Recovered.

Salt Lake, Jan. 17.—Just as the burglars were in the act of beginning the melting of the silverware stolen from the home of Mrs. H. Hanauer, 1111 East First South street, on the night of January 14, and valued at $1,000, Sergeant Henry Johnston and Patrol Driver O. C. Brown, of the police department, broke into the room occupied by J. J. Howard, F. E. McCarthy and James Hunt, at the American house on Commercial street, Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock, and after a struggle in which the burglars put up a desperate fight, overpowered them, handcuffed them and gathered up the silverware, took all to the police station. Mrs. Hanauer was immediately notified of the recovery of the silverware and expressed her appreciation to the department for the record made.

MERE AMUSEMENT NOT THE ONLY THING IN LIFE

In one of his regular "pulpit editorials," Rev. Noble Strong Elderkin, of the First Congregational church last night, scored increased desires for public amusement. The "editorial" follows:

I were foolish to deny the necessity for relaxation. The need of amusement, I do not do it. But we face another situation when the cry is for a dance every night. A notion is gaining currency that life is one ceaseless quest after diverting experience. The chief end of man, according to the new catchism, is to be relieved of serious moments.

We count days only as they are to bestow upon us some pleasure. The day which marches out burdened with stern calls to duty marches out into ignominious darkness. The day with a dance at the end wears the halo.

The church has entered the amusement business with a vengeance. Perhaps the amusement-hall attachment to the meeting house serves its purpose. I hope it does.

But we misjudge our serious young people. We dangle a chocolate drop on the end of a string and fancy that that holds them to the pew. We flutter around asking, "What can be done to keep our young people interested? How shall their enthusiasm be maintained?" And we answer our queries by planning a series of entertainments for them.

For those outside the church, it may be a problem of wholesome amusement. I am sure it is. But within the church in these unauthoritative days are the thoughtful and purposeful. We mock them when we think they are infants crying for a sugar plum, yea, when the young men and young women who gather here from week to week are potential leaders. I should wrong them if I thought them less. I have heard each one say time and again, with Emerson, "I wish that life should not be cheap but sacred." And not much sacredness attaches to a high-toned dance.

The Ogden Betterment league is waving its hands frantically and protesting against the excess of Sunday amusements, when it might better be protesting against the modern demand for "a hot time in the old town every night."

In reality the problem of the pool-room and the public dance and the cigar store annex as they touch our best young life is a problem of supplanting the desire for ceaseless diversion with a desire for fragrant usefulness. That these institutions do touch our best young life will not be denied when one studies their influence upon the young people of our high school.

But we have set up the ideals for them. We make them believe that life is all in the perpetual smile, or the slight fete a tete, or the new gown, and quite naturally they begin to believe that we know what we are talking about. They must go nowhere save as they are amused.

I ran across a product of this false philosophy not long since. He was formerly a trustee of a Gentile church in town. It was noticed that he absented himself from Sunday services shortly after the advent of the new preacher. Inquiry brought out the reason. He went to church just as he went to the theater, to be amused and entertained and when the new preacher didn't amuse and entertain him, he didn't amuse and entertain him, he didn't amuse and entertain him, he didn't amuse and entertain him.

That may be one way of looking at it. The church may interest because the minister is good at buck and wing specialties or it may interest

DEMENTED MAN IS APPREHENDED AT ROY

Detected in the act of entering the home of J. S. Childs, of Roy, Charles Ratovicko was yesterday morning apprehended by neighbors until the arrival of Deputy Sheriff John Murphy, who brought Ratovicko to Ogden and lodged him in the county jail.

Ratovicko was found in a vacant house near the home of Childs with some fruit and quilts which had been taken from the house. The prisoner is said to have been released from the State Mental hospital at Provo some time ago, and is believed to be mentally unbalanced. It is probable that a lunacy commission will be called today to pass upon his sanity.

VIRGINIA RICHARDSON BURIED ON SUNDAY

The funeral services over the remains of Virginia E. Richardson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson was held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Larkin & Sons' funeral chapel, Bishop Carl E. Peterson presiding.

The music consisted of the following: Solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," Sarah Williams; solo, "Sweet Little Rosebud," Bessie Williams; duet, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," Bessie and Sarah Williams.

The speakers were William D. Van Dyke, Jr., and John Allen. The attendance was very large. The interment was made in the City cemetery.

WESTERN GOLFING INTERESTS TO BE WELL REPRESENTED.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Western golfing interests will be well represented at the important meeting of the United States Golf association scheduled for next Friday night at New York.

A new constitution probably will be adopted, but the importance of this action will be secondary to that which is almost sure to be taken regarding recognition of the west. W. A. Alexander of the Exmoor club, nominee for vice president of the United States Golf association, will give the easterners a clear idea of what the Western Golf association wants and it is believed by many the formation of a national organization, one which will place the west on an even footing with the east, will be the result.
